

Jean Paul Moustache

Noise and melodies. With their voluminous and diverse desertrock Jens Jakobs (voc/git), André Stuckenbrok (bass) and Mathias Duschek (drums) not only offer a high amount of decibels, but also provide the ear and eye with many facets of rock and pop music.

Loud and tight like in "Motorpsychle Rider", with elaborate arrangements like in "Desert Son" or hum-along-tunes like "One Of These Days" vary with spheric parts like in "Oceans" and "Sweet Insanity" which make you drift away into the presence of sound as they proved when supporting Tito & Tarantula "...whenever a catchy pattern was developed for some time the mucians managed to create a hypnotic effect..." (Weser Kurier 13. August 2009)

In their concerts Jean Paul Moustache leave their audience with only one desire to be fulfilled: You wish you had more ears...
